Read about this inspiring journey to find out how with IPL you can achieve the results you've always wanted

This photo is my skin today after IPL and microdermabrasion treatments.

I've always had a few freckles on my face that I've felt the need to cover up and after having my children, I found that not only had my freckles darkened, I was also left with rather large patches of pigmentation.

Anna at Absolute Beauty recommended I try the IPL treatment to help even my skin tone so I gave it a go and the results have completely blown me away.

To begin my freckles and pigmentation were of a normal brown colour and as you can see in the photo after my first session the freckles turned a dark brown and the pigmentation patches were quite red. Within a week the really dark/black spots started to flake off and the red patches started to fade. Anna then recommended 2 weeks after my IPL I have a microdermabrasion to help exfoliate my skin.

Five weeks later I went for another IPL session and again I went through the same process of the darkening and then flaking, followed by another micro treatment.

By the time I finished my second treatment, I decided to stop the IPL during the warmer months and really look after my skin until I could have more the next winter if needed.

Since August 2016 I have continued with microdermabrasion once a month and in January this year I started on the ASAP skin care range - starting with a basic cleanse and moisturise regime which is going well too.

Anna and her staff have been amazing! Anna seriously knows what she's talking about when it comes to the skin and has passed that wealth of knowledge onto her staff. Any questions I've had, Anna has answered them thoroughly and any concerns I've had, she's reassured me and the advice she's given has been spot on.

I now wear makeup maybe once a week as I no longer feel the need to cover my skin up on a daily basis. I still have freckles and pigmentation, but the texture and tone of my skin has evened out so so much.

I'm so glad I decided to start looking after my skin as I'm now loving it and I can't wait to continue on this journey with the Absolute Beauty team. If these are the results they can achieve in 7 months then I'm absolutely going to continue with their services and products.

Thanks so much Anna and Co - You've been amazing!
